

2009 CNA Continuing Nursing Education Programs

Nursing Continuing Education University of Connecticut Health Center

Slide 1 of 57 powered by mediasite

Toxic Chemicals In Consumer Products: Nurses Role In Chemical Policy Reform

Anne Hulick, RN, MS, JD
Environmental Health Coordinator
CT Nurses' Association

Click here for required reading.

6/25/2009 2:00 PM EDT Length: 00:54:36 More...

Toxic Chemicals in Consumer Products
(1 Module)

CE Available:

- For Online Review

Post Test Available:

- Online (Survey Quiz), and by
- Mail, or Walk-In

1 Contact Hour Awarded

(Consult CNA Office for Details)

Connecticut Nurses' Association
377 Research Parkway - Suite 2D
Meriden, CT 06450-7160
info@ctnurses.org
http://www.ctnurses.org
203.238.1207 • Fax 203.238.3437

*Program
Objectives
on Back*

CE Program Available Online at:

<http://www.ctnurses.org/>

2009 CNA Continuing Nursing Education Programs

Objectives

- Describe environmental health and the problem of “body burden.”
- Demonstrate understanding of how certain chemicals act as hormone-disruptors.
- Discuss current research on [1] hormone-disruptor-bisphenol-A and its effects on health.
- Discuss current federal law regulating chemicals in consumer products and discuss why this law is not effective in protecting public health.
- Identify ways in which nurses advocate for chemical policy reform.
- Describe next steps for chemical policy reform at the state and federal levels.

Toxic Chemicals in Consumer Products:
Nurses roll in chemical policy reform.

Continuing Nursing Education contact hours for this program will be available until December 15, 2011 for those holding an RN license. All others completing this program can receive a certificate of attendance.

Connecticut Nurses' Association

377 Research Parkway - Suite 2D • Meriden, CT 06450-7160

info@ctnurses.org • <http://www.ctnurses.org> • 203.238.1207 • Fax 203.238.3437

The Connecticut Nurses' Association is Accredited as a Provider of Continuing Nursing Education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

The Connecticut Nurses' Association is Accredited as an Approver of Continuing Nursing Education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.